

Privacy Policy:

What do you do with my personal data and how do you use my information?

We use your personal data in order to complete your booking with us at Avondale Guest House, as well as managing any queries and complying with the law.

What information do we collect?

We only collect the information necessary to complete your reservation. This includes your name, contact details, payment details, and those of any other people in your party. We also collect any specific dietary needs that you chose to supply.

How long will you keep my personal data?

We will only keep the information for as long as we need it. We only store your data while it is required for the relevant purposes of the booking, or to meet legal requirements.

Who will you share my data with?

We only share your data with third parties who we need to work with in order to deliver the services we are supplying to you. We do not share your data with any other third parties, just those required to complete your booking.

We explicitly do not share any details for marketing purposes. We may need to share your share data for legal reasons if necessary.

How do you ensure my data is secure?

All of your data is stored securely and uses a variety of measures to protect it, this includes technology, passwords and encrypted data. Data is only made available to Avondale Guest House staff as required in delivering our services to you.

Our website does contain some links to other websites, in this instance you should review their specific privacy policies. This privacy policy relates to our website only.
